

Calling companies

Please call companies that are producing products like ice cream, chocolate, biscuits, crisps, margarine, toothpaste, soap, detergents and cosmetics and find out the information below. Suggestion would be to talk to marketing managers, environmental managers or production managers. Once you have located the right person ask them the questions below. The reason you are calling is that you are a concerned consumer and you want to avoid using products containing palm oil so as not to continue the destruction of the rainforest and to help avoid the extinction of the orangutans. Fill in the form and send it us as info@redapes.org and mark your email “Palm oil in products”.

Name of product
Name and contact details of company
Name and title of person you talked to
Does the product contain palm oil?
Do they know where they are buying their palm oil? Where does it come from?
Do they have any guarantees that the palm oil is not destroying the rainforest and threatening the orangutans?
Your name
Your email address

